

Watapana Tours celebrates a successful year

Edgar Croes and Helen Welles, owners of Watapana Tours were happy to treat their twenty-five employees to a cozy end-of-year party at the Buccaneer Restaurant recently. Daughter Sharlise explained that they have had an excellent year, and their staff worked hard and deserved it.

Aside from a delightful meal in the underwater environment of the Buccaneer the jolly group also conducted their annual election organized by Office and Sales Manager Joanna Croes. This very egalitarian method of choosing the Most Punctual, Best Team Player and Best Guest Relations winners resulted in some lovely gifts for Ronald Gowrie, Lenouschka Richardson and Sylvia Hasham, respectively. They received not only accolades tangible rewards from their employers, but also the admiration of their fellow workers for service to above and beyond.

Edgar Croes revealed they are not only well satisfied with business and the performance of their staff for 2006, but are looking forward to starting out 2007 with brand new equipment, so as to offer their customers even better service in the coming year. He stated that it was a double celebration, a grand goodbye to 2006 and an optimistic beginning to the year to come!
